A hand-drawn speech bubble with a thick black outline. The bubble is elongated horizontally and has a jagged, wavy tail on the right side. Inside the bubble, the text "Late 20th century - international English" is written in a simple, black, sans-serif font.

Late 20th century - international English

English is widely used across the world; global communications and media have made it an international language